Keep Your Child Safe!

Please tell your child:
Do NOT walk, play or skate on frozen ponds or lakes!

Ice can be dangerous

Ice may look thick, but it can be very thin underneath, especially near the edges, around plants or where the water is moving.

It can break suddenly

Ice can crack or break without warning – even if no one else is on it. Cold weather can make ice even more unpredictable.

Stay away, even with adults nearby

It's very risky for children to walk, play or skate on frozen ponds or lakes, even if an adult is close by.

Choose safer activities

Encourage your child to play in safe areas like parks, playgrounds or snow-covered fields instead.

Keep them safe – keep them off the ice!

A little caution can help prevent a serious accident.
